Rosalind is the solo project of Leeds based indie-folk singer-songwriter Elanor Milne. Glimpses of a dark Joni Mitchell and lashes of Scott Matthews lyricism, Rosalind has an impressive year of shows behind her all in anticipation of a debut release.

2019 saw Rosalind collaborate with the likes of Benjamin Francis Leftwich, notably providing the second vocal on newest release 'Elephant', opening for him as a soloist and joining him on tour in Oslo, Copenhagen and Stockholm as a guest member of Wounded Bear. She has also shared a stage with critically-acclaimed artists Sam Amidon, Rose Cousins, and Cattle and Cane. 2020 has already seen Rosalind work with award-winning producer Matt Ingram (The Staves, Laura Marling, Florence and the Machine) on a yet-to-be released single, as well as the completion of her first co-headline UK Tour.

FFO: Laura Marling, Joni Mitchell, Sufjan Stevens.

Due to the Covid-19 crisis, all upcoming shows have been cancelled. These would have included Sofar York, Rachael Dadd support in York, and a showcase at The Sparrow, Bradford.

tech rider

Rosalind is a solo-project consisting only of acoustic guitar and vocals. In terms of live sound, aim for a Daughter and Joni Mitchell-esque sound. Soft and ethereal with a balanced guitar sound, as most of the songs are fingerstyle. Thank you in advance!

Ellie - vocals and tanglewood TW5 E Koa acoustic guitar.
